DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's amendment dated 9/20/05 has been received in application serial number 10/730,606. New claims 39 and 40 have been added.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-3, 5-13, 15-18, 25-27, 30-33, 35-28, 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ganjiiانpour 6,716,250. The invention is understood, and as amended Ganjiiانpour discloses the invention as currently claimed comprising: a body (element 18) having a central canal (34); extending there through; a head coupled to the body (22) ; a shaft (26) coupled to the body and extending through the central canal and a replacement shaft (30 it is inherent that a screw has a head and a shaft/stem portion) wherein the shaft is capable of being interchanged after implantation of the prosthesis by removing the shaft and replacing the shaft (30) with a replacement shaft without dislodging the body from the patient (all functional and capable of being performed by Ganjianpour); wherein the shaft is coupled to the body via insertion of the shaft through an end of the central canal nearest an articular surface of the prosthesis (the articular end is the surface of body/neck 19 see fig. 7 where a head can be attached); wherein the device is configured for a hip joint or shoulder joint (the device can be put into an animal of varying sizes to replace there shoulder joint); wherein the shaft is a nail; wherein the replacement shaft is longer than the shaft (see fig. 7 how it extends); wherein an insert is coupled to the body and extending at least partially into the central canal (read col. 7, lines 63-64 "groove shaft 26 inserted).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 3-4, 14, 28-29, 36-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ganjianpour in view of Pennig 5,375,956. Ganjianpour has been disclosed above however. Ganjianpour does not specify the term Morse. Ganjianpour does however have a tapered section that is coupled to the shaft (see col. 8, line 51-55). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a Morse taper lock as claimed because the taper of Ganjianpour is tapered and the Morse taper is well known in the art (as admitted in applicants specification) and is a matter of design modification and thus not novel. Ganjianpour shaft has an unthreaded head recess. Pennig 5,375,956 as an example of modified screw with shaft and head and the tool used to removal. It is also obvious that a “remover” such as screw driver device can be used to remove the shaft from the insert. If the head of the screw has threads than a threaded tool would be used to unscrew the device see Pennig 5,375,956 as an example of modified screw with shaft and head and the tool used to removal.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 9/20/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant has amended the claims and contends that Ganjianpour does not anticipate the claims and that the locking screw of Ganjianpour is not construed as a shaft. The examiner disagrees and provides a broad definition of the term shaft which is not defined by the applicants specification. The definition of the term shaft is a long narrow stem or body, a long thing object or part. Ganjianpour does provide a shaft on the screw which is capable of the functions as claimed. Further element (26) also serves as a “shaft” and is coupled. Claim 11 has been amended with “a shaft coupled to the body and configured to extend into a long bone of a patient”. It is the examiners opinion that shaft (26) is capable of extending into a long bone because the shaft (26) as seen in figure 7 fits down within the stem part with fits into the long bone.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3738

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

7. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
